PLAINTIFF'S MOTION FOR PRELIMINARY APPROVAL OF CLASS ACTION SETTLEMENT

The plaintiff, by and through the undersigned counsel, and with the express consent of defendant, and for the reasons set forth in the attached Memorandum in Support of Preliminary Approval of Class Action Settlement, moves to this Court to enter an Order pursuant to O.C.G.A. § 9-11-23 granting preliminary approval of a class action settlement in the above-styled action and certifying a class for the purpose of settlement, showing as follows:

The parties, after extensive mediation, have reached an agreement regarding the settlement of the above-styled action and fifteen related cases that is fair, adequate and reasonable and is well within the range of possible approval.

2.

The parties have also stipulated to the certification of the proposed class for the purposes of settlement as the class is so numerous that joinder is impracticable, there are questions of law and fact common to the class, the claims of the representative parties are typical of the claims of the class, and the representative parties will fairly and adequately protect the interests of the class.

In addition, the questions of law and fact common to the class predominate over individual questions and a class action is the superior method for the efficient adjudication of this controversy.

WHEREFORE, Plaintiff moves this Court to enter an Order granting preliminary approval of the class action settlement, to certify the class for purpose of settlement, and to enter such additional relief that it deems necessary and just. A proposed order accompanies this motion.

Respectfully submitted,

PLAINTIFF'S MEMORANDUM IN SUPPORT OF PRELIMINARY APPROVAL OF CLASS ACTION SETTLEMENT

This proposed class action settlement involves a practice known in the cellular telephone industry as “cramming.” That is, the Defendant, AT&T Mobility LLC’s (“AT&T Mobility”), is alleged to have allowed third-party mobile content providers to place charges on its customers’ bills for unauthorized “premium mobile content.”¹ Although AT&T Mobility has not directly contributed to the cramming, plaintiffs’ claims (which are disputed by AT&T Mobility) allege that AT&T Mobility has simultaneously benefited from and neglected to act aggressively enough to prevent it. Class Counsel and the members of the Plaintiff’s Steering Committee have been litigating this case and 15 related cases for over two years. During that time, Plaintiffs engaged in motion practice, conducted formal and informal discovery, and participated in upwards of ten in-person settlement meetings with AT&T Mobility and other defendants named in these lawsuits prior to agreeing upon a formal mediation process. The parties ultimately held joint² mediation sessions on May 12-13, 2008, and again on May 22-24, 2008 before mediator Rodney A. Max, a principle of the Upchurch Watson White & Max Mediation Group.

Through the mediation process, the parties were able to reach an incredibly strong settlement. (A true and accurate copy of the settlement agreement is attached as Exhibit A). The settlement provides the class with refunds equal to the amount of all unauthorized third-party mobile content charges. (If the charge recurred on a monthly basis based on a subscription or similar arrangement, class members may recover up to three times the amount of any such recurring charge). AT&T has also agreed to take steps to inform its customers about mobile content, the ability to restrict its purchase through parental controls, and methods for its customers to dispute unauthorized charges and cancel mobile content subscriptions. In total, the settlement terms approach the best plaintiffs could have hoped to achieve at trial. Given the hurdles facing them in this litigation, the results achieved are well beyond those required to preliminary approve the settlement and are supported not only by Plaintiff and AT&T Mobility, but also by the lead plaintiffs and their respective counsel in fifteen³ cases filed or pending in other state or federal courts throughout the country.

³ Joining in support of the settlement are plaintiffs and counsel in the following class actions that assert similar claims and are presently pending in other state or federal jurisdictions: Baker v. New Motion, Inc. et al., 2007-46363 (Fl. St. Ct.); Dedek v. AT&T Mobility LLC, No. BC387728 (Sup. Ct. L.A. County); Fiddler v. AT&T Mobility LLC, et al., No. 1:08-cv-00416 (N.D. Ill.); Goddard v. Google, Inc., BC 667876 (Cal. St. Ct.); Gray v. Mobile Messenger Americas, Inc. et al., 07-36302 (Fl. St. Ct.); Hensley v. AT&T Mobility LLC, (4th Jud. Dist., Hennepin Cty, Minn.); Jiran v. AT&T Mobility LLC, et al., No. 4:08-cv-00013 (N.D. Cal.); Paluzzi v. mBlox, et al., No: 2007-CH-37213 (Cir. Ct. Cook Cty, Ill.); Thielen v. Buongiorno USA, Inc., No. 1:06-cv-00016 (W.D. Mich.) (dismissed); Walsh v. mBlox, et al., No. BC 382356 (Cal. St. Ct.); *Warren et al. v. Plaintiff thus moves the Court to preliminary approve the instant settlement, certify the settlement class, and appoint the following leadership structure for Class Counsel in this case:

- Liaison Counsel: David W. Boone, William S. Stone and Aileen Page of Boone & Stone.
- Lead Counsel: Jay Edelson, Scott A. Kamber, and Myles McGuire of KamberEdelson, LLC.
- Plaintiff's Steering Committee: Robert Shelquist of Lockridge Grindal Nauen, P.L.L.P. (chairman), Orin Giskan, of Giskan, Solotaroff, Anderson & Stewart, LLP, David Healey of the Law Offices of David Healey and John G. Jacobs of The Jacobs Law Firm, Chtd.

For convenience, a proposed preliminary schedule of events leading to a final approval hearing (the "Settlement Hearing") is provided in Section VI of this brief.

I. NATURE OF THE LITIGATION

A. The Mobile Content Class Actions

Over the last two years, class actions have been filed throughout the country by consumers challenging the "cramming" practices related to AT&T Mobility, whereby charges for mobile content are allegedly included in consumers' cellular telephone bills without their authorization. As alleged in these complaints, though disputed by the defendants, "cramming" is the result of systematic flaws in AT&T Mobility's billing system that arose due to the rapid and largely unplanned growth of the mobile content industry. To provide for the ever-increasing demand of consumers for mobile content, AT&T Mobility contracted with entities called "aggregators" (such as mBlox Inc., VeriSign, and M-Qube, Inc.) who act as middlemen between the mobile content providers and the wireless carriers. Most mobile content providers lack the wherewithal to enter into contractual relationships with the large wireless carriers such as AT&T

Mobility. In addition to fostering these ties, the aggregators are responsible for the actual billing and delivery of mobile content to the consumers via cell phone technology.

The providers of mobile content charge and collect payment from their customers by “piggybacking” on the cell phone bills sent to consumers by AT&T Mobility. Both the aggregators and the wireless carriers are compensated for their services to the mobile content providers by retaining a substantial percentage of the amount each mobile content transaction. Although AT&T Mobility has taken preventative steps, plaintiffs’ complaints allege that its billing and collection systems in aid of the premium mobile content industry lack sufficient checks or safeguards to prevent unauthorized charges from being added to customers’ bills.

Of the lawsuits filed, many (including McFerren’s Complaint), broadly challenge the alleged occurrence of “unauthorized charges” for third-party mobile content and broadly define the putative class to include AT&T Mobility subscribers across the nation who suffered damages as a result of being billed for mobile content that was not authorized by the subscriber.

Additional class actions have been filed against AT&T Mobility involving a subset⁴ of the “cramming” flaw, the so-called “recycled numbers” charges. These cases address charges that were allegedly unauthorized by the current holder of a wireless telephone number, but were authorized by the former holder of the number before it was abandoned and “recycled” to the current owner. The proposed settlement would cover the claims asserted in all of these actions as they relate to AT&T Mobility customers as well as those alleged in McFerren’s Complaint.

B. Litigation and Investigation.

Proposed Class Counsel began a wide-ranging investigation into the premium mobile content industry in 2005. (See Declaration of Myles McGuire ¶ 2, a true and accurate copy of which is attached as Exhibit B). To date, that investigation has resulted in information gathered from over 1,000 aggrieved consumers. (McGuire Decl. ¶ 2). It has lead to an exchange of information and litigation strategy with multiple governmental agencies, including attorney general offices in Florida and Minnesota. (McGuire Decl. ¶ 2). Class Counsel has received and reviewed numerous documents produced from both the Maryland and Florida attorney generals’ offices. (McGuire Decl. ¶ 2). And, most relevant, it has resulted in litigation throughout the country.

In January of 2006, Class Counsel filed the first case involving third party mobile content sold to AT&T customers. (McGuire Decl. ¶ 3). During the following 28 months, they and the members of the proposed Plaintiff’s Steering Committee, filed fifteen addition lawsuits that now have joined in support of the settlement. (McGuire Decl. ¶ 3). These lawsuits, which collectively name AT&T Mobility, every major U.S. aggregator, and several third party content providers, are as follows:

- McFerren v. AT&T Mobility LLC, (Fulton County, GA) (Complaint is attached hereto as Exhibit C);
- Baker v. New Motion, Inc. et al, 2007-46363 (Fl. St. Ct.)
- Goddard v. Google, Inc. BC 667876 (Cal. St. Ct.);

- Paluzzi v. mBlox, et al., No: 2007-CH-37213 (Cook Cty, IL),
- Thielen v. Buongiorno USA, Inc., 1:06-cv-00016 (W.D. Mich.)
(dismissed);
- Walsh v. mBlox, et al., No. BC. BC 382356 (Cal. St. Ct.),
- White v. AT&T Mobility, No. 104651-08 (N.Y. Sup. Ct.)
- Warren et al. v. OpenMarket Inc., et al. No. 6:2007cv02043 (M.D. Fl.)
- Jiran v. AT&T Mobility LLC, et al., Civ. A. No. 08-00013, (N.D. Cal.);
- Hensley v. AT&T Mobility LLC (Dist. Ct., 4th Jud. Dist., Hennepin Cty, Minn.);
- Gray v. Mobile Messenger Americas, Inc. et al., 07-36302 (Fl. St. Ct.);
- Fiddler v. AT&T Mobility LLC, et al., Civ. A. No. 08-0416, (N.D. Ill.);
- Jiran v. AT&T Mobility LLC, et al., Civ. A. No. 08-00013, (N.D. Cal.);
- Valdez v. Buongiorno USA, Inc. et al, 4:07-cv-06496-CW (N.D. Cal.);
- Knox v. m-Qube, Inc. 1:07-cv-10124 (D.Mass.); and
- Dedek v. AT&T Mobility LLC, Case No. BC387728 (Sup. Ct. L.A. Cty).

(McGuire Decl. ¶ 3).

The procedural history of these cases is varied. In many cases, procedural motions—such as motions to remand or motions to compel arbitration—have been briefed and/or decided by the courts. (McGuire Decl. ¶ 4). In others, substantive motions have been filed and/or decided. (McGuire Decl. ¶ 4). Formal and informal discovery have been produced and witnesses have been made available for interviews by the various key defendants including AT&T Mobility, mQube, Verisign, and m-Blox. (McGuire Decl. ¶ 4). The information received in these cases has also been cross-checked against information produced in litigation involving carriers other than AT&T Mobility.

C. Mediation & Settlement

During the time that the parties have been litigating the issues arising from plaintiffs' claims for so-called "unauthorized" charges for third-party mobile content, counsel for plaintiffs, AT&T Mobility and several of the aggregators and third party content providers have had preliminary negotiations, which essentially centered on exchanges of information and discussions about their respective approaches to these cases. (McGuire Decl. ¶ 5). Specifically, Class Counsel met in person with both outside and in-house counsel for AT&T Mobility in Chicago, Illinois in February of 2008 and then again in Seattle, Washington in March of 2008. (McGuire Decl. ¶ 7). Class Counsel met in person with m-Qube's in-house and outside counsel in Chicago in August of 2007 and in Washington D.C. in October of 2007. (McGuire Decl. ¶ 8). Class Counsel met with mBlox's outside counsel in Chicago in November of 2007 and again in February of 2008. (McGuire Decl. ¶ 9).

As a result of these discussions, AT&T Mobility, along with several aggregators and third-party mobile content providers, and plaintiffs engaged Rodney A. Max as mediator for sessions that took place on May 12-13, 2008 in Chicago, Illinois. (McGuire Decl. ¶ 10). Although no settlement was reached after the initial two-day meeting, the parties continued to exchange information and to discuss a framework for settlement. (McGuire Decl. ¶ 11). The parties, this time without the aggregators or third-party mobile content providers, agreed to again meet with Mr. Max to mediate for an additional three days over Memorial Day weekend in the hope that a settlement could be finalized. (McGuire Decl. ¶ 11) As a result of the second round of mediation, the parties were able to reach an agreement in principle. (McGuire Decl. ¶ 12)

Only after that was accomplished, did the parties discuss attorneys' fees and class representative incentive awards. (McGuire Decl. ¶ 13). The parties' agreement was later formalized and executed on May 28, 2008. (McGuire Decl. ¶ 14).

II. SUMMARY OF THE PROPOSED SETTLEMENT

The key terms of the proposed settlement follow:

1. Class Definition. The settlement class is defined as follows:

All current and former AT&T Mobility Account Holders Nationwide who, at any time from January 1, 2005 to the Notice Date, were billed and paid for Third Party Mobile Content. Excluded from the Class are the following: the Defendant, the Third Party Providers, the Claims Administrator, the Mediator, and any of their respective parent, subsidiary, affiliate or control person of the Defendant, as well as the officers, directors, agents, servants, or employees of the Defendant, any trial judge presiding over this case over any of the actions which comprise the Action or Coordinated Actions, and the immediate family members of any such Person(s).

2. Individual Class Member Benefits. AT&T Mobility has agreed to refund the amount of all unauthorized third-party mobile content charges that were billed to the settlement class from January 1, 2004 to the notice date. If the charge recurring on a monthly basis based on a subscription or similar arrangement, the settlement class members may only recover up to three times the amount of any such recurring charge. To be eligible for any refund, the charges must have been unauthorized and not previously refunded to your account. The refund can come in one of two forms: (a) a credit on their AT&T Mobility bill; or (b) a cash payment from the claims administrator.

3. Group Relief and Additional Relief.

In addition to the individual relief to the Settlement Class provided above, the Defendant has agreed to provide the following group and other relief.

A. AT&T Mobility Service Improvements & Assurances: AT&T

Mobility has agreed to provide disclosures regarding mobile content in its Wireless Customer Service Agreement and on its website. In addition, AT&T Mobility will provide a telephone number and website address in all bills for customers who seek to dispute a charge. AT&T Mobility has further agreed to provide and enhance as necessary the means for its customers to freely address billing issues and cancel third-party mobile content subscriptions.

B. Payment of Notice and Administrative Fees: AT&T Mobility will pay for the cost of sending the Class Notice and any other notice as required by the Court as well as all costs of administration of the settlement.

C. Compensation for the Class Representative: In addition to any award under the Settlement, and in recognition of their efforts on behalf of the Class, Tracie McFerren, Morris Fiddler and Kristen Hensley, along with the other Plaintiffs in the related cases, will share $10,000 to be paid by AT&T Mobility as appropriate compensation for serving as class representatives in this litigation.

D. Payment of Attorneys Fees: Defendant has agreed to pay Class Counsel, subject to Court approval, Four Million Three Hundred Thousand dollars ($4,300,000) in attorneys' fees and for the reimbursement of costs. AT&T Mobility has agreed that this amount is fair and reasonable and that it will not object to, or otherwise challenge, Class Counsel's application for reasonable attorneys' fees and for reimbursement of costs and other expenses. Class Counsel has, in turn, agreed not to seek more than said amount from the Court.

4. Release.

With respect to any and all Claims, and upon entry of Final Order and Judgment without further action, for good and valuable consideration, Plaintiff, on behalf of herself and the Settlement Class and as the representative of the Settlement Class, shall expressly, and all Settlement Class members shall be deemed to have, and by operation of the final judgment contemplated by the parties agreement shall have, fully, finally, and forever expressly waived and relinquished with respect to Settled Claims, to the fullest extent permitted by law, any and all provisions, rights, and benefits of section 1542 of the California Civil Code and any and all provisions, rights, and benefits conferred by any law of any state or territory of the United States or principle of common law that is similar, comparable, or equivalent to section 1542 of the California Civil Code, which provides: "A general release does not extend to claims which the creditor does not know or suspect to exist in his or her favor at the time of executing the release, which if known by him or her must have materially affected his or her settlement with the debtor."

For the purposes of this release, "Settled Claims" means any claim, liability, right, demand, suit, matter, obligation, damage, loss or cost, action or cause of action, of every kind and description that the Settlement Class has or may have, including assigned claims, whether known or unknown, asserted or unasserted, latent or patent, that is, has been, could reasonably have been or in the future might reasonably be asserted by the Releasing Party either in the Action or in any other action or proceeding in this Court or any other court or forum, regardless of legal theory, and regardless of the type or amount of relief or damages claimed, against any of the Released Parties arising out or relating to a charge to any Account Holder for Third Party Mobile Content, including all claims that were brought or could have been brought in the Action, the Coordinated Actions or the Recycled Number Actions, and involving any allegation on any basis that such charge was unauthorized. Settled Claims include, but are not limited to, claims that the Third Party Mobile Content charges were the result of fraudulent or misleading marketing or billing practices, the actions of minors who did not have the capacity to agree to such charges, or that were the result of receiving a “recycled” cellular telephone number.

The Release is only between the class members defined above, AT&T Mobility, and Third-Party Providers⁵ and includes their respective predecessors, successors, assigns, parents, subsidiaries, divisions, departments, and affiliates, and any and all of their past, present and future officers, directors, employees, stockholders, partners, agents, servants, successors, attorneys, representatives, subrogees and assigns of any of the foregoing.

III. THE PROPOSED SETTLEMENT WARRANTS PRELIMINARY APPROVAL

Like Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 23, O.C.G.A. § 9-11-23(e) provides that “[a] class action shall not be dismissed or compromised without the approval of the court.”⁶ The procedure for review of a proposed class action settlement is a well-established two-step process. Alba & Conte, 4 Newberg on Class Actions, §11.25, at 38-39 (4th Ed. 2002). The first step is a preliminary, pre-notification hearing to determine whether the proposed settlement is “within the range of possible approval.” Newberg, §11.25, at 38-39 (quoting Manual for Complex Litigation, §30.41 (3rd Ed.)); In re Syncor ERISA Litig., 516 F.3d 1095, 1110 (9th Cir. 2008); In re Chicken Antitrust Litig., 560 F. Supp. 957, 960 (N.D. Ga. 1980). This hearing is not a fairness hearing; its purpose, rather, is to ascertain whether there is any reason to notify the class members of the proposed settlement and to proceed with a fairness hearing. Newberg, §11.25, at 38-39; O.C.G.A. § 9-11-23(e)(requiring “notice of the proposed dismissal or compromise shall be given to all members of the class . . .”). The Manual for Complex Litigation (Fourth) (2004) (the “Manual”) characterizes the preliminary approval stage as an “initial evaluation” of the fairness of the proposed settlement made by the court on the basis of written submissions and informal presentation from the settling parties. Manual, § 21.632. If the court finds a settlement proposal “within the range of possible approval,” it then proceeds to the second step in the review process—the final approval hearing. Newberg, §11.25, at 38-39; In re Chicken Antitrust Litig., 560 F. Supp. at 960 (finding “it is well settled that a proposed settlement, taken on the whole, need only be fair, adequate, and reasonable in light of the interests of all the parties and not a product of fraud or collusion” in order to meet preliminary approval).

⁶ Plaintiff’s Motion cites to Georgia state law where available and to federal authority due to the similarity between the two rules as well as Georgia Courts’ history of looking to federal law for guidance on both the approval of this class action settlement as well as class certification. See Sta-Power Indus. Inc. v. Avant, 216 S.E.2d 897, 900 (Ga. Ct. App. 1975); Casurella, Jeffrey, & Bevis, John Class Action Law in Georgia: Emerging Trends in Litigation, Certification, & Settlement, 49 Mercer L. Rev. 39, 59 (Fall 1997) (recognizing that “Georgia case precedent dealing with . . . class action settlements is scarce”).

A strong judicial policy exists that favors the voluntary conciliation and settlement of complex class action litigation. In re Syncor, 516 F.3d at 1101; see also Warren v. City of Tampa, 693 F. Supp. 1051, 154 (M.D. Fla. 1998) (noting courts favor settlement of disputed claims), aff’d 893 F. 2d 347 (11th Cir. 1998). With a settlement, the class members are ensured a benefit as opposed to the “mere possibility of recovery at some indefinite time in the future.” In re Domestic Air Transport., 148 F.R.D. 297, 306 (N.D. Ga. 1993). While this Court has discretion regarding the approval of a proposed settlement, it should give proper deference to the private consensual decision of the parties. Warren, 693 F. Supp. at 1054 (“affording great weight to the recommendations of counsel for both parties, given their considerable experience in this type of litigation”). In fact, when a settlement is negotiated at arms’ length by experienced counsel, there is a presumption that it is fair and reasonable. In re Inter-Op Hip Prosthesis Liab. Litig., 204 F.R.D. 359, 380 (N.D. Ohio 2001). Ultimately, the Court's role is to ensure that the settlement is fundamentally fair, reasonable and adequate. In re Syncor, 516 F.3d at 1100.

In determining whether the instant proposed settlement is "fair, adequate, and reasonable," the following factors are often considered:

(1) the likelihood of success at trial; (2) the range of possible recovery; (3) the point on or below the range of possible recovery at which settlement is fair, adequate and reasonable; (4) the complexity, expense and duration of litigation; (5) the substance and amount of opposition to the settlement; and (6) the stage of proceedings at which the settlement was achieved.

Bennett v. Behring, 737 F. Supp. 982, 986 (11th Cir. 1984); see also Domestic Air Transport., 148 F.R.D. at 312-13. Finally, "approval of a class action settlement does not require a final decision on the substantive law merits . . . and does not require the trial court to expressly consider the law of every state involved" Smith v. AirTouch Cellular of Ga. Inc., 534 S.E.2d 832, 835 fn 1 (Ga. Ct. App. 2000).

In this case, there is no question that the proposed settlement is both "fair, adequate, and reasonable" and "within the range of possible approval." The fairness, reasonableness, and adequacy of this settlement are apparent from the full reimbursement of all allegedly unauthorized charges, the substantial service improvements and assurances from AT&T Mobility, and the agreement of the parties' experienced counsel. In fact, this settlement is entitled to a presumption of fairness, as it is the product of extensive arms' length negotiations of the parties represented by highly experienced counsel. Although Plaintiff's counsel is confident in the strength of the claims alleged in the Complaint and that they would ultimately prevail at trial, their experience imparts the wisdom that litigation is inherently risky. When the strengths of the Plaintiff's claim are weighed against the legal and factual obstacles combined with the complexity of class action practice, it is apparent that the proposed settlement is clearly in the best interest of class members as it approaches the recovery they could recover at trial.

The amount of recovery to the class to the proposed class members is also unquestionably fair, adequate, and reasonable: AT&T Mobility has agreed to refund the amount of all unauthorized third-party mobile content charges paid by the class members, subject to the limitation that if the charge was recurring on a monthly basis based on a subscription that only three times the recurring charge can be recovered. In addition, AT&T Mobility has also agreed to take steps to inform its customers about mobile content, the ability to restrict its purchase through parental controls, and to provide enhanced methods for its customers to dispute unauthorized charges and cancel mobile content subscriptions. Given the strength of this settlement, the parties expect little no significant opposition to the settlement by class members;⁷ in fact, the settlement is supported not only by McFerren and AT&T Mobility, but also by the lead Plaintiffs and their respective counsel in fifteen other separately pending class actions.

Finally, although the present suit is in its infancy, the stage of the related proceedings that formed the foundation of this settlement provides an ample basis on which to evaluate the proposed settlement. The numerous pending class actions involving alleged unauthorized charges for mobile content have allowed the parties to conduct extensive investigations into the relevant facts and law. It has allowed the parties to test certain issues through motion practice. In the end, each party had the necessary information to evaluate the strengths and weaknesses of their cases to mediate effectively. Armed with this information, the parties were able to reach the present settlement only after five days of mediation. As such, this settlement is well within the range of possible approval and should be preliminarily approved by this Court.

⁷ Given that over 70 million people will receive direct notice of this settlement, there is virtually no likelihood that there will be no filed objections. Class Counsel expects that these objections will fall into four categories. First, there will be “philosophical” objections, i.e. objections made by attorneys, class members, or think tanks who are opposed to class actions and seek to use large settlements as a venue to make political statements. Second, there will be objections filed by serial objectors, who look to object to large class actions and threaten to hold up settlements as a way to extract payouts. Third, due to the existence of the MDL litigation, it is likely that so-called “competing” plaintiffs’ firms will be motivated to search for reasons to object to this settlement, again due to motivations separate and apart from the interests of the class. Finally, there will likely be the “random” objections, filed by pro se objectors or law firms that have not taken the time to understand the settlement and whose objections will reveal that approach. Based both on the procedure employed in reaching the settlement and the results ultimately obtained, Class Counsel believe that these likely objections will not gain any traction.

IV. THE PROPOSED SETTLEMENT CLASS SHOULD BE CERTIFIED

For settlement purposes only, the parties ask the Court to certify the Settlement Class defined above. Likewise, for settlement purposes only, the parties agree this action satisfies the criteria for certification under Georgia law:

- (1) The class is so numerous that joinder of all members is impracticable; (2) There are questions of law or fact common to the class; (3) The claims or defenses of the representative parties are typical of the claims or defenses of the class; and (4) The representative parties will fairly and adequately protect the interests of the class.

O.C.G.A. § 9-11-23(a). As in most other jurisdictions, to certify a class the court must find that each of the four § 9-11-23(a) requirements are satisfied as well as a finding that “the questions of law or fact common to the members of the class predominate over any questions affecting only individual members, and that a class action is superior to other available methods for the fair and efficient adjudication of the controversy.” See O.C.G.A § 9-11-23. Georgia courts deciding whether to certify a class must enter and written order addressing the above factors specifying the findings of fact and conclusions of law on which the court has made its decision; however, the court may rely on the stipulations of the parties regarding whether the factors have been established. O.C.G.A § 9-11-23(f). In this case, the parties have stipulated to the certification of the class for settlement purposes.

A. The Class is Sufficiently Numerous

The first prerequisite to class certification—that the class be so numerous that joinder is impracticable—is a threshold issue. Murphy v. Hope, 195 S.E.2d 24, 25 (Ga. 1972). “[A] class action [may] proceed upon a mere estimation of the size of the proposed class.” Amswiss Int’l Corp. v. Heublein, 69 F.R.D. 663, 666 (N.D. Ga. 1975). The numerosity requirement is easily satisfied “as few as 40 class members should raise a presumption that joinder is impracticable.” 1 Newberg § 3.5; see also Ikonen v. Hartz Mountain Corp., 122 F.R.D. 258, 262 (S.D. Cal. 1988). In this case, the estimated number of class members is in the tens of millions. Given the approximate number of class members, numerosity is easily met.

B. Common Issues of Fact and Law Predominate

Section 9-11-23(a)(2) is satisfied when “[t]here are questions of law or fact common to the class.” Although common questions of law or fact must predominate, the law does not require plaintiffs to prove the complete absence of individual issues because there is no need to burden the Court or the class with requiring each member to pursue their own action. Trend Star Cont’l Ltd. v. Branham, 469 S.E.2d 750, 752-53 (Ga. Ct. App. 1996). “The character of the right to be enforced may be common although the facts may be different as to each class member.” UNUM Life Ins. Co. of Am. v. Crutchfield, 568 S.E.2d 767, 769 (Ga. Ct. App. 2002)(quoting Ga. Inv. Co. v. Norman, 190 S.E. 48, 50 (Ga. 1972)). Common questions predominate where consumers with agreements from a common source seek to enforce common rights and seek common relief. UNUM Life Ins. Co., 568 S.E.2d at 769; see also J.M.I.C. Life Ins. Co. v. Toole, 634 S.E.2d 123, 128 (Ga. Ct. App. 2006)(upholding certification of class involving laws of 38 states where the class members executed materially similar form contracts and no evidence was presented showing the laws of the different states would yield different results among members of the class).

In the present litigation, all class members share the common issue of having entered into substantially similar form contracts for wireless service with AT&T Mobility and were then subsequently billed by AT&T Mobility for mobile content that they allegedly did not authorize. In addition, such common questions for the settlement including whether the settlement is fair, and what is the proper form of notice.

C. Plaintiff's Claims Are Typical of The Claims of the Class

McFerren, Fiddler and Hensley, who seek to be appointed class representatives, must also show that their claims are typical of those of the putative class members. O.C.G.A. § 9-11-23(a)(3); Life Ins. Co. of Ga. v. Meeks, 617 S.E.2d 179, 185 (Ga. Ct. App. 2005). “[T]ypicality measures whether a significant nexus exists between the claims of the named representative and those of the class at large.” Hines v. Widnall, 334 F.3d 1253, 1256 (11th Cir. 2003) (internal quotation omitted). McFerren, Fiddler and Hensley’s claims are each typical of the claims of the class in that they “arise from the same event or pattern or practice and are based on the same legal theory.” Kornberg v. Carnival Cruise Lines, Inc., 741 F.2d 1332, 1337 (11th Cir. 1984); see also Cooper v. Southern Co., 390 F.3d 695, 714 (11th Cir. 2004)(finding that “[n]either the typicality nor the commonality requirement mandates that all putative class members share identical claims, and . . . factual differences among the claims of the putative members do not defeat certification.” In fact, “a strong similarity of legal theories will satisfy the typicality requirement despite substantial factual differences.” Appleyard v. Wallace, 754 F.2d 955, 958 (11th Cir. 1985); see also Cooper, 390 F.3d at 714 (finding that named representative need only share the same “essential characteristics” or the larger class). Simply put, when the same unlawful course of conduct is directed at both the named plaintiff and the members of the proposed class, the typicality requirement is met. Kennedy v. Tallant, 710 F.2d 771, 717 (11th Cir. 1983).

In this case, McFerren, Fiddler and Hensley and the proposed class suffered the same or similar injuries that resulted from the Defendant's alleged practice billing consumers for unauthorized charges for mobile content. Accordingly, the Plaintiffs' claims are typical of those of the class and Section 9-11-23(a)(3) is satisfied.

D. Plaintiffs and Their Counsel Adequately Represent the Class

The final Section 9-11-23(a) requirement mandates consideration of the Plaintiffs' ability to "fairly and adequately protect the interests of the class." O.C.G.A § 9-11-239(a)(4). McFerren, Fiddler and Hensley shoulder the burden of demonstrating their adequacy as class representatives, which necessarily includes a showing that they are members of the class they seek to represent. McGarry v. Cingular Wireless, LLC, 599 S.E.2d 34, 36 (Ga. Ct. App. 2004). The remaining determination of adequacy of representation rests on whether the attorneys representing the class are experienced and competent to conduct the litigation, and whether the plaintiffs' interests are antagonistic to those of the class. Jones v. Douglas County, 418 S.E.2d 19, 24 (Ga. 1992). The Court may also require a showing that other putative class members share in the Plaintiff's dissatisfaction with the Defendant's conduct. See id. at 25.

In this case, McFerren, Fiddler and Hensley are members of the proposed class and have the same interests as its members—all have been charged for allegedly unauthorized mobile content through the Defendant. Class Counsel has also heard from over 1,000 individuals who have expressed dissatisfaction with AT&T alleged conduct. (McGuire Decl. ¶ 2). Further, proposed Class Counsel and members of the Plaintiff's Steering Committee are well respected members of their respective legal communities, have regularly engaged in major complex litigation, have had extensive experience in consumer class action lawsuits, including ones similar to the instant case. (See Firm Resumes of KamberEdelson LLC; Boone & Stone; Lockridge Grindal Nauen PLLP; Giskan, Solotaroff, Anderson, & Stewart, and The Jacobs Law Firm Chtd, attached as Exhibits D-H, respectively). Accordingly, McFerren, Fiddler, Hensley and their counsel adequately represent the class.

E. A Class Action is the Superior Method of Adjudicating these Consumer Claims

In addition to satisfying the Section 9-11-23(a) prerequisites, the Court must also determine both that the common questions of law and fact predominate over individual issues and “that a class action is superior to other methods available for the fair and efficient adjudication of the controversy.” O.C.G.A. § 9-11-23(b)(3). In making its determination, pertinent inquiries include:

(A) The interest of members of the class in individually controlling the prosecution of . . . separate actions; (B) The extent and nature of any litigation concerning the controversy already commenced by or against members of the class; (C) the desirability or undesirability of concentrating the litigation of claims in the particular forum; and (D) The difficulties likely to be encountered in the management of a class action.

O.C.G.A. § 9-11-23(b)(3)(A-D). In consumer class actions, “[a] class based effort is more effective than an individual consumer in getting a defendant to modify its conduct.” Newberg, § 21.1 at 386. The certification of consumer class actions “enable[s] class members to share in financial recovery which they might otherwise never pursue on their own behalf, [and] also provides an opportunity to educate a segment of the public, those included in the class, or the obligations . . . owed to them.” Duran v. Credit Bureau, Inc., 93 F.R.D. 607, 610 (D. Ariz. 1982)(quoting Watkins v. Simmons and Clark, 618 F.2d 398, 404 (6th Cir. 1980).

In this case and especially in the context of settlement, the issues of fact and law common to the class present in this litigation predominate over individual issues. AT&T Mobility's alleged practice of billing its customers for unauthorized charges is common to the class. The only real distinction among class members is the number of unauthorized mobile content charges they were billed for by the Defendant. However, such variations do not defeat class certification, as the exact amount of damages is invariably an individual question. See Blackie v. Barrack, 524 F.2d 891, 905 (9th Cir. 1975).

In addition, class relief offers a clearly superior alternative to other forms of adjudicating these cases. The claims of the named Plaintiff and the proposed class are small, discouraging the individual prosecution of their claims. Absent a class action, the Defendant would not be as motivated to provide the service improvements and assurances guaranteed by the proposed settlement and its customers will become more knowledgeable about the pervasiveness of unauthorized charges for mobile content. Additionally, although the present action was recently filed, these matters are currently ripe for settlement as they are the culmination of hard-fought negotiation concerning a multitude of similar suits filed by class counsel and the Plaintiff's Steering Committee that have been pending since January of 2006. It is fitting that the settlement of this class action occurs in this Court, given AT&T Mobility's relationship to the State of Georgia. Finally, because the action will now settle, the Court need not consider issues of manageability relating to trial. See Amchem Prods. Inc. v. Windsor, 521 U.S. 591, 620 (1997)(citation omitted) (finding that "[c]onfronted with a request for settlement-only class certification, a district court need not inquire whether the case, if tried, would present intractable management problems, for the proposal is that there be no trial"). Accordingly, this Court should enter an order certifying the proposed class for the purposes of this settlement.

V. THE PROPOSED NOTICE AND FORM OF NOTICE SHOULD BE APPROVED

Pursuant to the Settlement Agreement, Defendant has agreed to notify the class of this settlement in several ways. First, AT&T Mobility will publish Notice in USA TODAY and PARADE within ninety (90) days after the preliminary approval of this settlement. Second, direct notice will be provided to current AT&T Mobility customers via a bill insert within 120 days after entry of the preliminary approval order, which will be inserted in customers monthly bill and an electronic copy will be sent via email to those customers who receive bills electronically. Finally, the settlement administrator will erect a settlement website that will serve as a replacement for a typical “long-form” notice and will provide links to the Settlement Agreement and provide for the on-line submission of claims. Copies of the Proposed Notices are attached as Exhibits 2-4 to the Settlement Agreement attached here as Exhibit A.

The proposed notices are neutral in tone and neither promote nor discourage the assertion of claims. The Notices also provide the settlement class members with a detailed explanation of their options to allow each of them to make an informed decision. The parties request the Court to approve the form and methods of notice proposed.

VI. PROPOSED PRELIMINARY SCHEDULE

The parties propose the following schedule leading to the Fairness Hearing for final approval of the settlement:

1. Website Notice Posted by Settlement Administrator: shortly after entry of Preliminary Approval Order (PAO).
2. Notice Published in USA TODAY and PARADE: Within 90 days after PAO entered.
3. Defendant will send out Bill Insert Notice: Within 120 days after PAO entered.
4. Deadline for Opt-outs/Objections: 14 days prior to Final Settlement Hearing

Date.

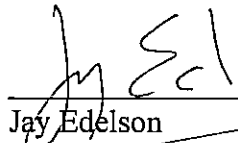

5. Submission of papers in support of final approval of settlement and in response to objections: 7 days prior to Final Settlement Hearing Date.
6. Final Fairness Hearing: Date to be set by the parties and the Court.

CONCLUSION

For the foregoing reasons, Plaintiff respectfully requests that (1) the Court certify the requested settlement class, (2) appoint Tracie McFerren, Morris Fiddler and Kristen Hensley as class representatives, (3) appoint Class Counsel as set forth above, (4) preliminarily approve the proposed settlement, (5) approve the form and methods of proposed Notice, and (6) that the Court order the issuance of the Notice and all other actions detailed in the schedule proposed in Section VI above.

The Parties shall, in good faith, cooperate, assist and undertake all reasonable actions and steps in order to accomplish these required events on the schedule set by the Court.

C. Dismissal of Coordinated Actions

Class Counsel shall dismiss, with prejudice, the Coordinated Actions or, to the extent appropriate, amend the pleadings to limit the respective classes to exclude Settled Claims, no later than thirty (30) days following the Effective Date, and shall cooperate in seeking stays of such actions as to Settled Claims prior to the Effective Date.

D. Certification of Settlement Class

For settlement purposes only, AT&T Mobility and the Settlement Class stipulate to the certification of the Settlement Class, as defined above.

This Agreement is contingent upon the Court finally certifying the Settlement Class as defined in the preceding paragraph. Should the Court fail to certify the Settlement Class substantially as defined in the preceding paragraph, the Parties shall each have the option of rescinding this Agreement within 10 business days of the date the Court grants final certification of the class in this Action. Should the Court fail to certify a class or approve this Agreement, this Agreement may not be used by the Parties for any purpose related to class certification.

IV. SETTLEMENT BENEFITS

A. Service Improvements and Assurances. AT&T Mobility has agreed that it shall, as soon as practicable but in no event later than a date 45 days after preliminary approval is entered in this action, institute the following:

1. AT&T Mobility shall include in its Wireless Service Agreement a disclosure concerning Mobile Content substantially consistent with the following:

Mobile Content

I understand that wireless devices may be used to purchase goods, content, and services (including subscription plans) like ring tones, graphics, games, horoscopes and news alerts from AT&T and other companies ("Mobile Content"). I understand that I am responsible for all authorized charges associated with such purchases from any device assigned to my account, that these charges will appear on my bill (including charges on behalf of other companies), and that such purchases can be restricted by using parental controls available from your AT&T salesperson, at www.wireless.att.com, or by calling AT&T.

2. AT&T Mobility shall post on its website a disclosure concerning Mobile Content substantially consistent with the following:

Your wireless devices may be used to purchase goods, content, and services (including subscription plans) like ring tones, graphics, games and news alerts, from AT&T or other companies ("Mobile Content"). You are responsible for all authorized charges associated with such purchases from any device assigned to your account. Charges for Mobile Content will appear on your bill (including charges on behalf of other companies), and Mobile Content purchases can be restricted by use of parental controls or similar features. Parents should consider using parental controls available from

AT&T. Please visit our website at www.wireless.att.com or speak with an AT&T customer representative for further information.

3. All bills, electronic and paper, will disclose the telephone number for Account Holders who seek to dispute a charge to call and reach an appropriate customer service representative as well as the website address for performing the same.

4. AT&T Mobility will continue to provide and enhance as necessary the systems, processes and training to support the ability for Account Holders to have a free and ready means to address billing issues and cancel Third Party Mobile Content subscriptions via a single point of contact or through an equally effective means to address such issues.

B. Refund Benefit.

1. Refunds. AT&T Mobility shall credit or refund any current or former Account Holder who submits a valid and timely Claim Form for the amount of past unauthorized charges for Third Party Mobile Content purchases ("Settlement Benefit") billed to a member of the Settlement Class, subject to the provisions of this Settlement Agreement and in accordance with the claims process set forth herein.

2. Subscription Charge Claims. With respect to any Account Holder Claims relating to charges associated with Third Party Mobile Content sold by subscription, the Settlement Benefit shall be capped at an amount equal to three times the monthly subscription charge.

V. CLAIMS PROCESS

A. Claims Administrator's Duties The Claims Administrator shall, under the supervision of the Court, administer the relief provided by this Settlement Agreement by resolving claims in a rational, responsive, cost effective and timely manner. The Claims Administrator shall maintain reasonably detailed records of its activities under this Agreement. The Claims Administrator shall maintain all such records until expiration of the Term of Agreement and such records will be made available to Class Counsel and AT&T Mobility's Counsel. The Claims Administrator shall also provide reports and other information to the Court as it may require. The Claims Administrator shall provide Class Counsel and AT&T Mobility's Counsel with such information concerning notice, administration and implementation of the Settlement. Should the Court request, the Parties, in conjunction with the Claims Administrator, shall submit a timely report to the Court summarizing the work performed by the Claims Administrator, including a report of all amounts paid to Class Members. The Claims Administrator shall cause a website to be created containing claims information and relevant documents. The Parties shall agree on all information and documents to be posted on this website.

B. Written and Electronic Claims Submission

Settlement Class Members are entitled to Settlement Benefit(s) through submission of an Approved Claim. The claims process shall be conducted online through the claims website administrated by the Claims Administrator. Any Class member unable to complete an online Claim Form may call a toll free number, provide their name and address, and receive a paper Claim Form. Paper Claim Forms may be mailed to the Claims Administrator and must be postmarked on or before the Claims Deadline. The paper Claim Form agreed to by the Parties is attached hereto as Exhibit 1. The Claims Administrator shall reject any claims not submitted in accordance with the above provided, however, that nothing in this provision shall be construed to prevent the Claims Administrator, in its discretion, from permitting a Settlement Class Member to remedy deficiencies in such Settlement Class Member's Claim Form.

C. Processing and Validation of Claims

1. Claims Must be for Unauthorized Charges. All claims shall be validated by the Claims Administrator to establish that the Third Party Mobile Content charges associated with each claim were not authorized.

2. Claims Administrator Review. The Claims Administrator may reject a claim, or any part of a claim, where there is evidence of customer abuse or fraud or where indicia of authorization are present. For example, the Claims Administrator may reject a claim or any portion of a claim if it appears that the Claimant has previously received multiple refunds for the same type of charge that is being requested for refund in the Claim Form, provided that such charges do not arise from a subscription cancelled by the Account Holder and not reactivated by an authorized user on the account.

3. Review for Indicia of Authorization. The Claims Administrator shall make the determination by a totality of the circumstances and shall have the right to request additional information. To determine whether the charge was unauthorized, the Claims Administrator may review, inter alia, the Claimant's Third Party Mobile Content purchase history, including but not limited to the following:

- (a) whether a refund was previously issued for the charges associated with a claim;
- (b) whether refunds were previously given for other Third Party Mobile Content charges associated with the wireless number tied to a claim;
- (c) if refunds were previously given, the amount of the refunds given for the charges associated with the wireless number tied to a claim;
- (d) the number and frequency of similar Third Party Mobile Content charges associated with the wireless number tied to a claim;

- (e) the amount of similar charges associated with the wireless number tied to a claim;
- (f) the existence of charges from a different wireless number on the same account tied to a claim;
- (g) the reputation of the source of the Third Party Mobile Content;
- (h) the nature and type of the Third Party Mobile Content;
- (i) the number of telephone lines associated with the account;
- (j) a comparison of the date the Third Party Mobile Content was ordered and the date the account was opened;
- (k) whether the charges were voluntarily paid; and
- (k) any explanation given by the Account Holder.

4. Subscription Charges. As provided in Section IV.B.2, the Settlement Benefit for any claim made for a recurring charge that was billed and paid for by the Claimant for more than three successive billing cycles shall be limited to three times the amount of such recurring charges appearing on a monthly basis. For example, if a Claimant requests refund for four months of a recurring monthly charge, the Claims Administrator may refund three months of the recurring charge but will reject the claim for refund of the fourth month of this charge.

5. Previously Refunded Amounts. The Claims Administrator shall not provide a Settlement Benefit for any charge associated with a claim that has been previously refunded by AT&T Mobility or a Third Party Provider.

D. Resolution Procedure For Challenged or Rejected Claims

1. Abuse of Discretion by Claims Administrator. Both AT&T Mobility and Plaintiffs' Counsel shall have the right to challenge systematic abuse(s) in processing or handling of the claims as submitted by Settlement Class members and such challenges will be timely decided by the Mediator. The Parties agree that the Claims Administrator shall thereafter follow the decision of the Mediator resulting from any such challenge.

2. Challenging Individual Claims.

a. AT&T Mobility may challenge any claim, and the Claim Form will disclose the right of AT&T Mobility to challenge claims.

b. AT&T Mobility shall have thirty (30) days upon receiving notice of such approval to dispute any claim for a Settlement Benefit approved by the Claims Administrator. Any Settlement Class member whose claim for a Settlement Benefit is denied by the Claims Administrator shall also have thirty (30) days upon receiving notice of such denial to dispute the denial of the claim. In either case, each party shall receive written notice that the denial/approval of the claim is being disputed and shall be provided an Appeal Form wherein the appealing party must provide a detailed written explanation as to why the Claims Administrator erred in its denial/approval of the claim for a Settlement Benefit.

c. All Appeal Forms will be submitted to an Appeal Panel that will be comprised of three (3) members: one (1) member to be appointed by AT&T; one member (1) to be appointed by the Claims Administrator; and one (1) member to be appointed by Plaintiffs' Counsel. The Appeal Panel shall meet at regularly determined times to decide all appeals based solely on the Appeal Forms submitted and AT&T records. There will be no in-person hearings of any kind. In order to overrule the decision of the Claims Administrator to approve/deny a claim for a Settlement Benefit, the party submitting the appeal must garner two (2) votes from the Appeal Panel.

d. If the Appeal Panel affirms the decision of the Settlement Administrator, the losing party has a right to one final appeal to have the issue of the denial/approval determined by a Special Master, to be either jointly agreed to by the Parties, or, if no such agreement is reached, as selected by the Mediator. All decisions regarding the denial/approval of any claim submitted and ruled upon by the Special Master are final.

VI. SETTLEMENT PAYMENTS

A. AT&T Mobility shall be solely responsible to pay all Claims Administration Expenses, including but not limited to reasonable fees and costs for the Special Master, and all Notice Expenses for a Notice Plan as described in this Agreement, as well as the Fee Award approved by the Court to Class Counsel.

B. The Claims Administrator shall request funds from AT&T Mobility in amounts, from time to time, sufficient to timely pay: (i) the costs of administration of this Settlement; (ii) the attorneys' fees and costs awarded by the Court to Class Counsel; and (iii) all Approved Claims. The Claims Administrator shall, in its discretion, request funds periodically and from time to time only as necessary to make payments due under this Agreement.

C. AT&T Mobility will use its best efforts to pay an Approved Claim as soon as practicable following approval by the Claims Administrator, but in no event more than 90 days following such approval. The Claims Administrator shall pay all Approved Claims (not paid by AT&T Mobility via a bill credit) by check and mail them to the Claimant via first-class mail.

VIII. NOTICE TO THE CLASS

A. Upon Preliminary Approval of this Agreement (and as the Court may direct), the Parties (or their designee) shall cause the Class Notice describing the Fairness Hearing and the terms of the Settlement embodied herein to be disseminated to potential Class Members as provided herein. Notice shall comport with due process and be effectuated pursuant to a Notice Plan.

B. The Notice Plan shall include:

1. Publication Notice shall be made in a single publication each in USA TODAY WEEKEND and PARADE, to be published within ninety (90) days of receipt of Preliminary Approval of the Settlement. The text of such notice is provided in Exhibit 2.

2. A paper Bill Insert Notice shall be provided to current direct bill wireless Account Holders who receive bills by paper and an electronic Bill Insert Notice shall be provided to Account Holders who receive bills electronically. The text of such notice is provided in Exhibit 3. Bill Insert Notice will be completed within one hundred and twenty (120) days after Preliminary Approval of the Settlement.

3. Internet Publication Notice. Immediately following Preliminary Approval of the Settlement, Website Notice shall be provided on the website to be administered by the Claims Administrator. The text of such Notice is provided in Exhibit 4.

C. The Class Notice shall advise Class Members of their rights, including the right to opt-out and/or comment or object upon the Settlement Agreement or its terms. The Notice shall provide that any objection to the proposed Settlement Agreement, and any papers submitted in support of said objection, shall be received by the Court at the Fairness Hearing, only if, on or before a date approved by the Court and to be specified in the Class Notice, the Person making an objection shall file notice of his or her intentions to do so and shall file copies of such papers he or she proposes to submit at the hearing with the Clerk of the Court and mail, hand or overnight delivery service to both Class Counsel and AT&T Mobility's Counsel on or before the date specified in the Class Notice.

D. The cost of the Notice, the Notice Plan as outlined herein, and the dissemination of the Notice shall be borne solely by AT&T Mobility.

IX. OPT-OUT AND OBJECTIONS

A. A Class Member may opt out of the Class at any time during the Opt-Out Period, as will be outlined in the Court-approved Notice. Opt-outs must be post-marked by a date approved by the Court and specified in the Notice. In order to exercise the right to opt out, the Class Member must complete and return a Request For Exclusion to the Claims Administrator during the Opt-Out Period. Except for those potential Class Members who have properly opted out, all Class Members will be deemed a Class Member for all purposes under this Agreement. Any potential Class Member who elects to opt out of the Class shall not (i) be bound by any orders or judgments entered in this Action; (ii) be entitled to relief under or be affected by this Agreement; (iii) gain any rights by virtue of this Agreement; or (iv) be entitled to object to any aspect of this Agreement. The Request For Exclusion must be personally signed by the Person requesting exclusion. So called "mass" or "class" opt-outs shall not be allowed.

B. Any Settlement Class Member who intends to object to the Settlement Agreement must include his/her name and address, include all arguments, citations, and evidence supporting the objection. An objecting Class Member must state, in writing, all objections and the basis for any such objection(s), and provide a statement whether the Objector intends to appear at the Fairness Hearing, either with or without counsel. Objections must be post-marked by a date approved by the Court and specified in the Notice. Any Settlement Class Member who fails to timely file a written objection and notice of his or her intent to appear at the Fairness Hearing pursuant to this paragraph or as detailed in the Notice, shall not be permitted to object to the Class Settlement at the Fairness Hearing, and shall be foreclosed from seeking any review of the Class Settlement by appeal or other means.

X. AT&T MOBILITY'S RIGHT OF WITHDRAWAL

A. If an excess of a reasonable amount of Class Members, in an amount to be agreed upon by the Parties and approved of by the Court prior to Notice being effectuated, timely file valid opt-out requests, AT&T Mobility shall have the right to terminate from this Agreement. AT&T Mobility shall exercise such withdrawal right, if at all, no later than ten (10) business days after being advised by the Claims Administrator in writing of the number of opt-out requests following the end of the Opt-Out Period. In the event AT&T Mobility exercise its right of termination, AT&T Mobility shall promptly notify Class Counsel and cause the Claims Administrator to notify the Class by posting information on the Settlement website and e-mailing information to those Class Members who provided an e-mail address to the Claims Administrator.

XI. EXCLUSIVE REMEDY; DISMISSAL OF ACTION; JURISDICTION OF COURT

A. This Agreement shall be the sole and exclusive remedy for any and all Settled Claims of all Class Members against the Released Parties. No Released Party shall be subject to liability or expense of any kind to any Class Member with respect to any Settled Claim. Upon entry of the Judgment pursuant to the Fairness Hearing, each and every Class Member shall be permanently barred and enjoined from initiating, asserting and/or prosecuting any Settled Claim(s) against any Released Party in any court or forum.

B. The Parties agree that the Court shall retain exclusive and continuing jurisdiction of the Action, Parties, Class Members and the Claims Administrator to interpret and enforce the terms, conditions, and obligations under this Agreement.

XII. RELEASES

A. Upon entry of the Judgment, each Settlement Class Member who has not validly opted out of the Settlement, shall be deemed to and does hereby release and forever discharge each Released Party of and from liability for any and all Settled Claims.

B. Upon entry of Judgment without further action, for good and valuable consideration, Plaintiff, on behalf of herself and the Settlement Class and as the representative of the Settlement Class, shall expressly, and all Settlement Class Members shall be deemed to have, and by operation of the final judgment contemplated by this Agreement shall have, fully, finally, and forever expressly waived and relinquished with respect to Settled Claims, to the fullest extent permitted by law, any and all provisions, rights, and benefits of section 1542 of the California Civil Code and any and all similar provisions, rights, and benefits conferred by any law of any state or territory of the United States or principle of common law that is similar, comparable, or equivalent to section 1542 of the California Civil Code, which provides: "A general release does not extend to claims which the creditor does not know or suspect to exist in his favor at the time of executing the release, which if known by him must have materially affected his settlement with the debtor."

XIII. CLASS COUNSEL FEES AND COSTS AND INCENTIVE AWARDS

A. The Fee Award. In addition to the consideration provided to the Claimants in Section IV, above, AT&T Mobility has agreed to pay Class Counsel, subject to Court approval, $4.3

Million (the "Maximum Fee Amount") in attorneys' fees and reimbursement of costs (the "Fee Award"). AT&T Mobility agrees that the Maximum Fee Amount is fair and reasonable and will not object to or otherwise challenge Class Counsel's application for reasonable attorneys' fees and for reimbursement of costs and other expenses if limited to the Maximum Fee Amount. Class Counsel has, in turn, agreed not to seek more than the Maximum Fee Amount from the Court.

B. Payment of the Fee Award. Notwithstanding any appeal or objection or challenge to the Settlement or to the Fee Award, provided Lead Class Counsel provides adequate security for the recovery of amounts paid in the event of reversal of the award of fees on appeal, AT&T Mobility shall pay (by wire) to Lead Counsel the Fee Award approved by the Court within thirty (30) days after entry of the order approving such award of fees or reimbursement of expenses. The adequacy of security shall be determined by AT&T Mobility in its sole discretion. Absent the provision of such security, AT&T Mobility shall pay the Fee Award to Lead Class Counsel by wire transfer within thirty (30) days of the Effective Date.

C. Class Representatives' Incentive Award: In addition to any award under the Settlement, and in recognition of their efforts on behalf of the Class, the Class Representatives shall, subject to Court approval, receive and award collectively of the sum of $10,000.00 as appropriate compensation for their time and effort serving as the Class Representative in this litigation. Such amount shall be paid by AT&T Mobility to Lead Class Counsel within twenty (20) days after the Effective Date.

XIV. SETTLEMENT APPROVAL ORDER

A. This Agreement is subject to and conditioned upon the issuance by the Court of the Judgment which finally certifies the Settlement Class and grants final approval of this Agreement in accordance with applicable jurisprudence, and providing the relief specified below, which relief shall be subject to the terms and conditions of this Agreement and the Parties' performance of their continuing rights and obligations hereunder. Such Judgment shall:

1. Confirm the certification, for settlement purposes only, of the Settlement Class under applicable jurisprudence;
2. Dismiss all complaints in the Action as with prejudice and without costs;
3. Decree that neither the Judgment nor this Agreement constitute an admission by AT&T Mobility of any liability or wrongdoing whatsoever;
4. Bar and enjoin all Class Members from asserting against any Released Party any and all Settled Claims which the Class member had, has, or may have in the future;
5. Release each Released Party from the Settled Claims which any Class Members have, had, or may have in the future, against such Released Party;
6. Determine that this Agreement is entered into in good faith, is reasonable, fair and adequate, in the best interest of the Class; and
7. Preserve the Court's continuing and exclusive jurisdiction over the Parties to this Agreement, including AT&T Mobility and all Class Members, to administer, supervise, construe and enforce this Agreement in accordance with its terms for the mutual benefit of the Parties, but without affecting the finality of the Judgment.

B. In the event that the Court or any appellate court enters an order altering this Settlement Agreement in a way that materially and adversely affects AT&T Mobility or Plaintiff, within five (5) business days from the date the Court or appellate court enters such an order, AT&T Mobility or Plaintiff, as the case may be, may terminate this Settlement Agreement by giving written notice of its intent to do so to the opposing party's counsel.

XV. REPRESENTATIONS AND WARRANTIES

AT&T Mobility represents and warrants (i) that it has all requisite corporate power and authority to execute, deliver and perform this Agreement and to consummate the transactions contemplated hereby; (ii) that the execution, delivery and performance of this Agreement and the consummation by it of the actions contemplated herein have been duly authorized by all necessary corporate action on the part of AT&T Mobility; and (iii) that this Agreement has been duly and validly executed and delivered by AT&T Mobility and constitutes its legal, valid and binding obligation.

This Agreement may not be changed, modified, or amended except in writing signed by all Parties, subject to Court approval. The Parties contemplate that, subject to Court approval, the exhibits to this Agreement may be modified by subsequent Agreement of AT&T

Mobility and Class Counsel prior to dissemination to the Class.

This Agreement shall be construed under and governed by the laws of the State of Georgia, applied without regard to laws applicable to choice of law.

C. Execution by Counterparts

NOTICE OF CLASS ACTION AND PROPOSED SETTLEMENT

This notice is to inform you of the proposed Settlement of several similar lawsuits. These lawsuits relate to the sale, marketing and billing of third party mobile content such as ring tones and news alerts to AT&T Mobility wireless telephone subscribers.

This notice is a summary only. You should read the Full Notice for complete information. You can get a copy of the Full Notice by visiting the Web site, calling the toll-free number listed, or writing to the address listed below.

What is Third Party Mobile Content?

Third party mobile content is a product (such as ringtones, games, graphics and news or other alerts) that may be purchased and downloaded to your wireless device and is advertised, marketed and sold directly by a third party content provider/merchant other than AT&T Mobility. Third party mobile content is not advertised, marketed or directly sold by AT&T Mobility LLC ("AT&T Mobility").

Who is Involved?

You are a member of the Settlement Class and your rights are affected if you are a person (or entity) in the United States or its Territories with an AT&T Mobility (previously known as Cingular Wireless) account who was billed for third party mobile content from January 1, 2004 to [date] and were not previously refunded for this charge.

What is the Case About?

Plaintiffs claim that Defendants charged AT&T Mobility subscribers for third party mobile content that was not authorized. AT&T Mobility denies these claims but are settling to avoid the burden and cost of continuing the case.

What are the Terms of the Settlement?

AT&T Mobility has agreed to refund the amount of all eligible third party mobile content charges that were billed for between January 1, 2004 to [date]. If the charge was recurring on a monthly or other basis based on a subscription or similar arrangement, you may only recover up to three times the amount of any such monthly charge. To be eligible for any refund, the charges must have been unauthorized and not previously refunded to your account. AT&T has also agreed to take steps to inform its customers about mobile content, the ability to restrict its purchase through parental controls, and methods for its customers to dispute unauthorized charges and cancel mobile content subscriptions. The settlement is not an admission of wrongdoing by any party.

Who Represents Me?

The Court has appointed a team of 10 attorneys ("Class Counsel") to represent you for 16 related cases against AT&T and/or other entities. As part of the settlement, Class Counsel will request an award of attorneys' fees and expenses not to exceed $4,300,000 payable by AT&T Mobility. No award of fees or expenses will reduce the benefit to any Class Member. The Court has also appointed three Class Representatives who will share an award of $10,000 for their services. You may hire your own lawyer, but at your own expense.

What are my Legal Rights?

- Stay in the Settlement Class: You do not have to do anything to stay in the Class, but you must submit a Claim Form to receive a credit or refund. You may also object to the proposed Settlement.
- Submit a Claim Form for a credit/refund: If you wish to file a claim, you must complete a Claim Form. Claim Forms must be postmarked by [date]. The Claims Administrator will review your Claim Form and determine whether you have eligible charges and are therefore a member of the Settlement Class.
- Object to the proposed Settlement: You or your lawyer have the right to appear before the Court and object to the proposed Settlement. Your written objection must be postmarked by [date].
- Exclude Yourself from the Settlement Class: If you do not wish to be a member of the Settlement Class, you may exclude yourself by writing to the Claims Administrator. Your request must be postmarked by [date].

If you remain in the Settlement Class and the Court approves the proposed Settlement, you will receive the benefits of the proposed Settlement. You will also be bound by all orders and judgments of the Court and your claims against AT&T Mobility and other entities, including VeriSign, Inc., M-Qube, Inc., Jamster International SARL, and Mblox, Inc., for the conduct at issue in these cases will be resolved and released.

When will the Court Consider the Proposed Settlement?

The Court will hold a Fairness Hearing to determine if the proposed Settlement is fair, reasonable and adequate and to consider a motion for attorneys' fees and expenses on [date] at [time] in Courtroom [number], [Court name]. If comments or objections have been received, the Court will consider them at this time.

What is this notice about?

Certain AT&T/Cingular customers are eligible to obtain refunds for unauthorized purchases of third party mobile content, such as ringtones, graphics, games and news or other alerts ("Mobile Content") because of a proposed Settlement of a class action lawsuit. This notice is just a summary. You should read the Full Notice for complete information. You can get a copy of the Full Notice by visiting the Web site, calling the toll-free number or writing to the address listed below.

What is the case about?

Plaintiffs claim that Defendants charged AT&T Mobility subscribers for third party mobile content that was not authorized. AT&T Mobility, which was formerly known as Cingular, has entered into a proposed settlement agreement in a class action lawsuit about the marketing, advertising and billing practices of certain third party mobile content providers. AT&T Mobility denies these claims but are settling to avoid the burden and cost of continuing the case.

What will I get?

As part of the agreement, AT&T Mobility is offering to provide account holders with credits or refunds for unauthorized mobile content purchases made from January 1, 2004 to [date] that have not been previously refunded. AT&T has also agreed to take steps to inform its customers about mobile content, the ability to restrict its purchase through parental controls, and methods for its customers to dispute unauthorized charges and cancel mobile content subscriptions. The settlement is not an admission of wrongdoing by any party.

How do I know if I am eligible for a credit or refund?

If AT&T/Cingular has billed your account for the purchase of a third party mobile content that you did not authorize, you may be entitled to receive a refund for these charges. If a charge was recurring on a monthly or other basis based on a subscription or similar arrangement, you may only recover up to three times the amount of the recurring charge as to this type of charge.

Who represents me?

The Court has appointed a team of 10 attorneys ("Class Counsel") to represent you for 16 related cases against AT&T and/or other entities. As part of the settlement, Class Counsel will request an award of attorneys' fees and expenses not to exceed $4,300,000 payable by AT&T Mobility. No award of fees or expenses will reduce the benefit to any Class Member. The Court has also appointed three Class Representatives who will share an award of $10,000 for their services. You may retain your own counsel, but only at your own expense.

What are my Legal Rights?

- Stay in the Settlement Class: You do not have to do anything to stay in the Class, but you must submit a Claim Form to receive a credit or refund. You may also object to the proposed Settlement.
- Submit a Claim Form for a credit/refund: If you wish to file a claim, you must complete a Claim Form. Claim Forms must be postmarked by [date]. The Claims Administrator will review your Claim Form and determine whether you have eligible charges and are therefore a member of the Settlement Class.
- Object to the proposed Settlement: You or your lawyer have the right to appear before the Court and object to the proposed Settlement. Your written objection must be postmarked by [date].
- Exclude Yourself from the Settlement Class: If you do not wish to be a member of the Settlement Class, you may exclude yourself by writing to the Claims Administrator. Your request must be postmarked by [date].

If you remain in the Settlement Class and the Court approves the proposed Settlement, you will receive the benefits of the proposed Settlement. You will also be bound by all orders and judgments of the Court and your claims against AT&T Mobility and other entities, including VeriSign, Inc., M-Qube, Inc., Jamster International SARL, and Mblox, Inc., for the conduct at issue in these cases will be resolved and released.

When will the Court Consider the Proposed Settlement?

The Court will hold a Fairness Hearing to determine if the proposed Settlement is fair, reasonable and adequate and to consider a motion for attorneys' fees and expenses on [date] at [time] in Courtroom [number], [Court name]. If comments or objections have been received, the Court will consider them at this time.

PLEASE READ THIS NOTICE CAREFULLY

THIS NOTICE RELATES TO THE PENDENCY OF CLASS ACTION LITIGATION AND IF YOU ARE A CLASS MEMBER CONTAINS IMPORTANT INFORMATION ABOUT YOUR RIGHTS TO MAKE A CLAIM UNDER THE SETTLEMENT OR TO OBJECT TO THE SETTLEMENT

The Superior Court of Fulton County, State of Georgia authorized this notice. This is not a solicitation from a lawyer.

What Is This? This notice is to inform you of the proposed Settlement of a lawsuit pending in Georgia. The Court has granted preliminary approval of the settlement and has certified the Settlement Class defined above, subject to a fairness hearing which will take place on [date] at [time] in Courtroom [number], [Court name] to determine if the proposed Settlement is fair, reasonable and adequate and to consider the request for attorneys' fees and expenses.

Similar lawsuits were filed and are pending in state and federal courts in California, Illinois, Minnesota, and New York. These lawsuits relate to the sale, marketing and billing of third party mobile content to AT&T Mobility LLC ("AT&T" or "AT&T Mobility") wireless telephone subscribers.

This notice explains the nature of the lawsuit and the terms of the settlement and informs you of your legal rights and obligations.

By settling this lawsuit, AT&T Mobility is not admitting that it is liable to the Settlement Class.

You have options, explained below.

What is Third Party Mobile Content? Third party mobile content is a product (such as ringtones, games, graphics and news or other alerts) that may be purchased and downloaded to your wireless device and is advertised, marketed and sold directly by a third party content provider/merchant other than AT&T Mobility. Third party mobile content is not advertised, marketed or directly sold by AT&T Mobility.

Who is in the Settlement Class? You are a member of the Settlement Class and your rights are affected if you are a person (or entity) in the United States or its Territories with an AT&T Mobility account, and who was billed for third party mobile content from January 1, 2004 to [date] and were not previously refunded for this charge.

What is the Litigation About? Plaintiffs filed a class action in the Superior Court of Fulton County, Georgia, on behalf of a proposed class, alleging that AT&T Mobility charged its wireless subscribers for third party mobile content that was not authorized. Similar lawsuits were filed and are pending in state and federal courts throughout the country, including in California, Illinois, Minnesota, New York and other states. These class actions likewise allege that AT&T Mobility charged its subscribers for third party mobile content that was not authorized. You need not live in any of these States to receive a benefit under the proposed settlement. The Georgia class action asserts claims for breach of contract and violation of state consumer protection statutes and seeks monetary and injunctive relief. To resolve this matter without the expense and uncertainties of litigation in several class actions, the Parties have reached a proposed settlement. The settlement requires AT&T Mobility to implement certain service improvements, assurances, and monetary relief under specific circumstances. This settlement is not an admission of wrongdoing by any party.

What Relief is Provided To Class Members Under The Settlement?

A. Relief for All Settlement Class Members – AT&T Mobility Service Improvements & Assurances. AT&T Mobility has agreed to provide disclosures regarding mobile content in its Wireless Customer Service Agreement and on its website. In addition, AT&T Mobility will provide a telephone number and website address in all bills for customers who seek to dispute a charge. AT&T Mobility has further agreed to provide and enhance as necessary the means for its customers to freely address billing inquiries related to Third Party Mobile Content.

B. Relief for Settlement Class Members Filing Claims. In addition to the above-described service improvements, all Settlement Class members are entitled to individual relief with respect to the Settlement. AT&T Mobility has agreed to refund the amount of all eligible third party mobile content charges that were billed from January 1, 2004 to [date], and subject to the limitations concerning subscriptions that follow. These refunds will be provided to the Settlement Class members as follows:

- 1. Refunds. AT&T Mobility shall credit or refund to any former or current account holder all unauthorized charges for third party mobile content from January 1, 2004 to [date]. The refund can come in one of two forms: (1) a credit on your AT&T Mobility bill; or (b) a cash payment via first-class mail. In order to obtain this relief you must properly submit either an on-line or paper claim form by [date] and follow the instructions contained on the respective form and contained in this notice.

2. Subscription Charge Refund. AT&T Mobility shall refund to any former or current account holder up to three times the monthly subscription amount if the charge was recurring on a monthly or other basis based on a subscription or similar arrangement from January 1, 2004 to [date]. The refund can come in one of two forms: (1) a credit on your AT&T Mobility bill; or (b) a cash payment via first-class mail. In order to obtain this relief you must properly submit either an on-line or paper claim form by [date] and follow the instructions contained on the respective form and contained in this notice.

To be eligible for any refund, the charges must have been unauthorized and not previously refunded to your account.

What are my Legal Rights?

How Do I File A Claim for a Refund or Subscription Charge Refund?

If you were billed for unauthorized third party mobile content on your AT&T Mobility account from January 1, 2004 until [date], you may submit a claim form to obtain the “refunds” and/or the “subscription charge refund” described above. To receive any refund you must properly submit an on-line claim form by going to www.ThirdPartyContentRefund.com. If you do not have access to the internet, you may obtain a claim form by downloading [insert link] and printing it out or by calling the toll-free number and requesting a copy from the Claims Administrator. You must then mail a completed paper claim form to the Claims Administrator. Either the on-line form must be submitted or the paper form must be postmarked by [INSERT DATE] or your claim will be rejected. Follow the steps below to make claim for a Refund or Subscription Claim Refund.

Step 1 – Identify Unauthorized Third party Mobile Content Billed and Paid for By You. Identify third party mobile content charges that were billed by AT&T Mobility from January 1, 2004 to [date]. This information is located on your AT&T Mobility wireless bill. The claim form will ask you to specifically identify the third party mobile content charges that you seek to have refunded.

Step 2 – Complete a Claim Form. You must complete all information requested in the claim form and verify that the charges are unauthorized as well as the accuracy of the information provided in the claim form. Claim forms that are incomplete or are not signed will be rejected.

Step 3 – Submit On-Line Form or Mail Paper Form to Claims Administrator. Submit the completed on-line claim form following the instructions for submission or mail the completed claim form to the claims administrator.

What Happens After a Claim Form is Filed?

Upon receipt, the Claims Administrator will review your claim form and determine whether you have eligible charges and are a member of the Settlement Class. If your claim is approved, the Claims Administrator will mail you a cash refund check via first-class mail or instruct AT&T Mobility to credit the proper amount to your account. You will then be bound by all orders and judgments of the Court and your claims against AT&T Mobility and other entities, including VeriSign, Inc., M-Qube, Inc., Jamster International SARL, and Mblox, Inc., for the conduct alleged in these actions will be resolved and released. If your claim is rejected by the Claims Administrator or challenged by AT&T Mobility, you will be notified of the reasons for the denial or challenge. If your initial claim is denied, you will be given the opportunity to appeal this decision. A full explanation of this process is set out in the Settlement Agreement.

The Claims Administrator may consider numerous factors in its review of your claim, which are fully set out in the Settlement Agreement.

How Not to Participate in the Settlement Class

If you do not wish to be a member of the Settlement Class, you may exclude yourself by writing to the Claims Administrator. You must provide your full name and address, state that you want to opt out of the AT&T Mobility settlement, and deliver your request by mail, hand, or overnight delivery service to the Claims Administrator, at [address]. Your request must be postmarked no later than [date].

How Do I Object to the Settlement?

The Court will hold a Fairness Hearing to determine if the proposed Settlement is fair, reasonable and adequate and to consider a motion for attorneys' fees and expenses on [date] at [time] in Courtroom [number], [Court name]. If you remain a member of the Settlement class you or your counsel have the right to appear before the Court and object to the Settlement. However, you must file a Notice of Intention to Appear and Object. All objections must be filed by [date]. You must (1) provide your full name and address; (2) include all arguments, citations, and evidence supporting your objection; (3) specify who, if anyone, will attend the hearing to speak for your objection; (4) deliver your objection by mail, hand, or overnight delivery service to the Claims Administrator to the address listed above; and (5) file a copy of your objection with the Clerk of Court.

If I Remain in the Settlement Class, Who Represents Me?

What is the Plaintiff's Attorneys' Fees Award?

The Court has appointed a team of 10 attorneys involved in 16 related class actions to represent the Plaintiffs ("Class Counsel") against AT&T Mobility and/or other entities including VeriSign, Inc., M-Qube, Inc., Jamster International SARL, and Mblox, Inc., and will request approval of the Court for attorney's fees and costs of up to $4.3 Million. If approved by the Court, this amount will be paid directly by AT&T Mobility to Class Counsel and will not reduce any benefit to you from the settlement.

What is the Award To Class Representatives?

The Court has appointed Tracie McFerren, Morris Fiddler and Kristen Hensley as Class Representatives, who along with additional named Plaintiffs in the related cases, will share $10,000 for their service as class representatives. If approved by the Court, this amount will be paid directly by AT&T Mobility to the Class Representatives and will not reduce the benefit to you from the settlement.

Who Is Paying the Costs Associated with the Settlement?

Costs associated with the notice and administration of this settlement will be paid by AT&T Mobility.

What Claims Are Being Released in this Settlement?

Unless you exclude yourself from the settlement, you will be part of the Settlement Class. By staying in the Settlement Class, all of the Court's orders will apply to you, and you will give AT&T Mobility, VeriSign, Inc, M-Qube, Inc., Jamster International SARL, and Mblox, Inc. and all of their affiliated companies and their predecessors and successors (the "Released Parties"), a "release" for certain claims arising from or relating to the unauthorized mobile content which you have been billed for from the beginning of time until the Effective Date of the Settlement Agreement. A release means you cannot sue or be part of any other lawsuit against the Released Parties about the claims or issues in this Lawsuit ever again. To read the full release, see the Settlement Agreement.

What Is Class Counsel's Opinion Of The Settlement?

As part of this litigation, the Court approved and appointed Class Counsel who have conducted investigation into the factual and legal claims of the Settlement Class members and the defenses that might be asserted against those claims. Class counsel completed a five-day mediation before Rodney Max, Esquire, of the Upchurch Watson White & Max Mediation Group, who in his capacity as neutral mediator expressed his views about the case and the settlement. Based on their investigation and this process, Class Counsel believe that the settlement is fair, reasonable and adequate and in the best interests of the Settlement Class. Class Counsel and Plaintiff also recognize the expense and length of continued proceedings necessary to continue to prosecute this case through verdict, judgment and appeals and have taken into account the uncertainty and the risk of the outcome of continued litigation, especially in complex actions such as these as well as the difficulties and delays inherent in such actions.

When Will the Court Determine the Fairness of the Settlement?

A hearing will be held on the fairness of the proposed settlement. At the hearing, the Court will be available to hear any objections and arguments concerning the fairness of the proposed settlement, including the amount of the award to Plaintiffs' counsel for costs and attorney's fees. The Court will hold the Fairness Hearing on [date] at [time] in Courtroom [number], [Court name]. YOU ARE NOT OBLIGATED TO ATTEND THIS HEARING UNLESS YOU PLAN TO OBJECT TO THE SETTLEMENT.

If the settlement is not approved, the case will proceed as if no settlement had been attempted. There can be no assurance that if the settlement is not approved, the Settlement Class will recover more than is provided in the settlement, or indeed, anything.

May I Contact AT&T Mobility Directly?

Class Members are always able to call customer service to discuss third party mobile content charges made to their accounts. Calling customer service will not prohibit a Class Member from participating in the claims process.

Where Can I Obtain More Information?

Any questions you or your attorney may have concerning this notice should be directed to Class Counsel at the address listed above, or you can contact the Claims Administrator at [address, 1-877-465-4797, email]. Please include the case name and number, and your name and your current return address on any letters, not just the envelopes. You may also contact Lead Class Counsel at [toll free number]. DECLARATION OF MYLES MCGUIRE

I, Myles McGuire, certify under oath and penalty of perjury, that the following statements are true and correct, except to those matters herein stated to be made upon information and belief, and as to such matters, the undersigned certifies that he verily believes the same to be true:

1. I am a partner at the Chicago office of KamberEdelson LLC. I, along with Jay Edelson and Scott Kamber, seek to be appointed Lead Counsel for the class in the above-referenced case.
2. Class Counsel, as that term is defined in our settlement papers, began a wide-ranging investigation into the premium mobile content industry in 2005. To date, that investigation has resulted in information gathered from over 1,000 aggrieved consumers. It has lead to an exchange of information and litigation strategy with multiple governmental agencies, including attorney general offices in Florida and Minnesota. We have received and reviewed numerous documents produced from the Maryland and Florida attorney general offices.
3. In January of 2006, we filed the first case involving third party mobile content sold to AT&T customers. During the following 28 months, Class Counsel, including members of the proposed Plaintiff's Steering Committee, filed fifteen additional lawsuits that now have joined in support of the settlement, including:

- McFerren v. AT&T Mobility LLC, (Ga. St. Ct.) (Complaint attached to Plaintiff's Motion for Preliminary Approval of the Class Action Settlement as Exhibit C);
- Baker v. New Motion, Inc. et al, 2007-46363 (Fl. St. Ct.);
- Goddard v. Google, Inc. BC 667876 (Cal. St. Ct.);

4. In many of these cases, procedural motions—such as motions to remand or motions to compel arbitration—have been briefed and/or decided by the courts. In others, substantive motions have been filed and/or decided. Formal and informal discovery have been produced and witnesses have been made available for interviews by the various key defendants including AT&T Mobility, m-Qube, Verisign, and mBlox.

5. During the time that the parties have been litigating the issues arising from plaintiffs' claims for so-called "unauthorized" charges for third-party mobile content, counsel for plaintiffs, AT&T Mobility and several of the aggregators and third-party mobile content providers have had preliminary negotiations, which essentially centered on exchanges of information and discussions about their respective approaches to these cases.
6. As a pre-requisite to negotiating with AT&T Mobility, Class Counsel secured representations from AT&T Mobility and the other related parties that they were not negotiating with any other plaintiffs' group.
7. Class Counsel met in person with both outside and in-house counsel for AT&T Mobility in Chicago, Illinois in February of 2008 and then again in Seattle, Washington in March of 2008.
8. Class Counsel met in person with m-Qube's in-house and outside counsel in Chicago, Illinois in August of 2007 and in Washington, D.C. in October of 2007.
9. Class Counsel met with mBlox's outside counsel in Chicago, Illinois in November of 2007 and again in February of 2008.
10. As a result of the above discussions, AT&T Mobility, along with several aggregators and third-party mobile content providers, and plaintiffs engaged Rodney A. Max as mediator for sessions that took place on May 12-13, 2008 in Chicago, Illinois.
11. Although no settlement was reached after the initial two-day meeting, the parties continued to exchange information and to discuss a framework for settlement. The parties, this time without the aggregators or third-party mobile content providers, agreed to again meet with Mr. Max to mediate for an additional three days over Memorial Day weekend in the hope that a settlement could be finalized.

13. Only after that was accomplished, did the parties discuss attorneys' fees and class representative incentive awards.
14. The parties' agreement was later formalized and executed on May 28, 2008.
15. Based on my experience as a class action attorney, I believe this settlement to be fair and in the best interest of the class.
16. A true and accurate copy of the firm resume of KamberEdelson LLC is attached to Plaintiff's Motion for Preliminary Approval of the Class Action Settlement as Exhibit D.
17. If called on to testify, I can competently do so.
18. Further affiant sayeth not.

CLASS ACTION COMPLAINT

For her complaint against defendant, plaintiff states as follows:

Introduction

Plaintiff Tracie McFerren brings this class action complaint against Defendant AT&T Mobility, LLC f/k/a Cingular Wireless (“AT&T”) seeking to stop Defendant’s unlawful practice of charging cellular telephone customers for products and services the customers have not authorized, a practice which has resulted in Defendant unlawfully collecting money from consumers statewide, and to obtain redress for all persons injured by their conduct. Plaintiff, for her class action complaint, alleges as follows upon personal knowledge as to herself and her own acts and experiences, and, as to all other matters, upon information and belief, including investigation conducted by her attorneys.

Parties and Jurisdiction

- Plaintiff Tracie McFerren is an Ohio resident.

2. Defendant AT&T Mobility, LLC d/b/a the new AT&T Wireless ("AT&T") f/k/a Cingular Wireless is a leading provider of cellular telephone service in the United States. AT&T is a Delaware limited liability company with its headquarters and principal place of business in the State of Georgia, Fulton County. AT&T can be served through its registered agent, Neal Berinhout, 5565 Glenridge Connector, Suite 1725B, Atlanta, GA 30342. AT&T does business and has offices throughout the nation.

3. The amount in controversy exceeds the sum of $15,000 exclusive of interest, costs and attorney's fees. This Court has jurisdiction over the subject matter.

4. Venue is proper in this court.

Factual Background

5. This case arises from two closely related phenomena. The first is the capability of most cellular telephones, not only to make and receive telephone calls, but also to send and receive text messages, including -- most significantly for present purposes -- "premium" text message services. These services, also known as "mobile content" include products that range from the basic (customized ringtones for use with cell phones, sports score reports, weather alerts, stock tips, horoscope services, and the like) to those requiring more advanced capabilities (such as direct payment services, interactive radio and participatory television).

6. The second underlying phenomenon of this case constitutes its very core. That is, just as providers of premium mobile content, such as Mobile Messenger, deliver their products by means of cell phone technology, they likewise charge and collect from their customers by "piggybacking" on the cell phone bills sent out by the wireless carriers, such as AT&T. Further, because the mobile content providers by themselves most often lack the wherewithal to negotiate the necessary relationships with the much larger wireless carriers, they do so with the help of third-party companies, such as m-Qube, known as aggregators. These aggregators act as middle-men, representing numerous mobile content providers in arriving at the agreements that allow them to use the billing and collection mechanisms of the wireless carriers. In turn, both the aggregators and the wireless carriers are compensated for their services to the mobile content providers by retaining a substantial percentage of the amount each premium mobile content transaction.

7. The rapid and largely unplanned growth of the premium mobile content industry has led both to the above-described structure and to a disastrous flaw within it. That flaw -- understood, perpetuated, and even encouraged by carriers, aggregators, and mobile content providers such as the instant defendants -- is an open secret within the industry, but little understood outside of it. In short, the billing and collection systems established by companies including Defendant in aid of the premium mobile content industry that enriches them are conspicuously free of any checks or safeguards to prevent erroneous and unauthorized charges from being added to customers' bills.

8. As Defendant also knows, significant amounts of money have been collected on account of such unauthorized charges for premium mobile content in the industry over the last few years. And while it has always been within the power of companies such as Defendant to institute simple and effective measures that would prevent this, they have instead knowingly maintained the very system that has allowed these erroneous charges. Indeed Defendant have reaped and retained their respective shares of the improper collections.

9. While the total sales in Georgia of premium mobile content in 2007 amount to a significant sum, the business is still in its infancy. The burgeoning industry has already expanded from ordinary ringtones into mass media-related products such as interactive radio and participatory voting at television and concert events and, most recently, into services that enable cell phones to function as credit cards. Unchecked, Defendant's practices will injure an ever-increasing number of unwitting consumers, inflicting damages of an untold magnitude.

10. Unlike transactions made using checks and credit cards, which require a signature or a highly private sixteen-digit credit card number, the only thing a mobile content provider needs to charge a consumer for its products is the consumer's cellular telephone number. Once a mobile content provider has a consumer's cell phone number, it can cause that consumer to be billed for services and products irrespective of whether the consumer actually agreed to purchase them.

11. Armed with only a cell phone number, the mobile content provider can simply provide that number, along with an amount to be charged, to a billing aggregator (such as mQube or mBlox). The aggregator, in turn, instructs the relevant cellular carrier to add the charge to the bill associated with that cell phone number. The charge will then appear on the consumer's cell phone bill, often with only minimal, cryptic identifying information.

12. Because the protections normally present in consumer transactions -- such as signatures and private credit card numbers -- are absent from this process, the likelihood of false charges increases enormously. And because a substantial part of mobile content "sales" are effected through web sites using misleading, oblique, or inadequately explained "consent" procedures, that likelihood increases by another order of magnitude. Mobile content providers have powerful financial incentives to collect as many cell phone numbers as possible but little incentive to ensure that the owners of those numbers have truly agreed to purchase their goods and services.

13. While aggregators charge their content provider customers some upfront fees, their revenue is primarily generated through a "revenue share" on transactions for which they bill cell phone subscribers: each time a charge is incurred in connection with the purchase of mobile content services offered by a content provider, the aggregator and/or the content provider cause said charge to be billed directly on the cellular telephone bill of the carrier's customer who currently owns and/or uses the telephone number (claimed to be) associated with said purchase.

14. The carrier then bills and collects the charge from its current subscriber, retains about a portion of the proceeds as its "revenue share" and then remits the balance to the aggregator who has direct access to its network, who retains a percentage of the balance in the form of its own "revenue share," and then remits the remainder directly to the mobile content provider.

15. AT&T uses uniform form contracts ("Service Agreements") under which customers purchase cell phone services.

16. As described above, AT&T's services include providing access to and billing for various third-party mobile content services such as ring tones, chat services, horoscopes, stock tips, weather alerts, participatory television, mobile payment services and other forms of software provided by hundreds of third-party vendors with names such as New Motion and many others.

17. AT&T has contracted with third-party providers to bill and collect from AT&T's customers the services provided by such third-party content providers, the charges for which are included directly on a customer's monthly wireless bill.

18. The duty of good faith and fair dealing, a part of every contract, requires that AT&T not bill any customer for any good or service not authorized by the customer.

19. Upon execution of said Service Agreements and activation of cellular telephone accounts, AT&T provides its customers a ten-digit cellular telephone number.

20. As explained above, unbeknownst to its customers, AT&T frequently charges consumers for services that were never authorized.

21. As a result, AT&T has for years been systematically, repeatedly and without authorization, billing its customers for purchase of products and services not agreed to by those customers. AT&T and third-party service providers have, on information and belief, profited significantly through this practice.

22. AT&T's conduct is by no means accidental. As previously alleged, it knows that many of its cellular telephone customers dispute the claim the mobile content provider's claim that such customer consented to be charged for their mobile content services. AT&T further knows that it cannot authenticate such customer's authority to be billed for such mobile content charges. In light of its knowledge of these facts, AT&T's decision to continue to charge its customers for mobile content without taking steps to authenticate the representations of the mobile content providers that the customer's authority to be charged was obtained constitutes a deliberate and willful scheme to cheat large numbers of people out of small amounts of money.

23. Because the amount AT&T is taking is small on an individual basis -- as little as a few dollars to at most several hundreds of dollars per person -- and because of AT&T's vast resources and superior bargaining power, Defendant employ this scheme with the hope and expectation that its illegal conduct will go unpunished.

The Facts Relating to Named Plaintiff

24. In or about 2006, Plaintiff purchased new cell phone service for her family's personal use from an authorized AT&T sales representative.

25. On that same day, in exchange for an AT&T cell phone service plan, Plaintiff agreed to pay a specific amount each month for a period of approximately 12 months.

26. Upon activating her cellular telephone account, AT&T provided Plaintiff a cellular telephone number.

27. In or about late 2007, Plaintiff's cell phone account was charged for multiple unwanted mobile content services in the form of "premium" text messages from mBlox, Inc. and/or m-Qube, Inc., third party providers of mobile content services.

28. At no time did Plaintiff authorize the purchase of these products and services offered by Defendant and/or its agents at no time did Plaintiff consent to their sending of text messages to her cellular telephone.

29. During the relevant time period, Defendant caused Plaintiff to be charged service fees in varying amounts for so-called "Premium" text messages and mobile content downloads provided by Defendant and/or its agents.

30. At no time did Plaintiff authorize Defendant or anyone else to bill her for these services.

31. At no time did Defendant verify Plaintiff's purported authorization of these charges and no time did Defendant provide a complete refund consisting of the premium text message charges, ordinary text messages, data charges and/or back interest. Nor did AT&T provide Plaintiff an assurance that such unauthorized charges would not appear in future billing periods.

Class Representation Allegations

32. Plaintiff brings this action on behalf of herself and a class consisting of all AT&T wireless telephone subscribers in the nation who suffered losses or damages as a result of AT&T billing for mobile content products and services not authorized by the subscriber (the “Carrier Class”) provided, however, that the following are excluded from this proposed Class: (i) Defendant, and (ii) any employee of Defendant.

33. Numerosity. The class consists of thousands of members throughout the State of Georgia and the nation. The membership of the class is so numerous that joinder of all of them in this lawsuit would be impractical.

34. Typicality. The claims of Plaintiff are typical of the claims of all of the other members of the Class. The practices of Defendant are and have been uniform with regard to all class members. And the contracts that Defendant has entered into with the class members are substantially identical. Defendant’s actions also have affected the members of the class in similar ways. Members of the class have sustained damage as a direct result of the wrongful conduct described in this complaint.

35. Adequacy of Representation. Plaintiff will fairly and adequately represent and protect the interests of the other members of the class. Plaintiff has retained counsel with substantial experience in prosecuting complex litigation and class actions. Plaintiff and her counsel are committed to vigorously prosecuting this action on behalf of the other members of the Class, and have the financial resources to do so. Neither Plaintiff nor her counsel has any interest adverse to those of the other members of the Class.

36. Common Questions of Law and Fact. Absent a class action, most members of the Class would find the cost of litigating their claims to be prohibitive, and will have no effective remedy. The class treatment of common questions of law and fact is also superior to multiple individual actions or piecemeal litigation in that it conserves the resources of the courts and the litigants, and promotes consistency and efficiency of adjudication.

37. Defendant has acted and failed to act on grounds generally applicable to the plaintiff and the other members of the respective Class, requiring the Court's imposition of uniform relief to ensure compatible standards of conduct toward the members of the Class.

38. The factual and legal bases of Defendant's liability to Plaintiff and to the other members of the respective Class are the same, resulting in injury to the Plaintiff and to all of the other members of the Class. Plaintiff and the other Class members have all suffered harm and damages as a result of Defendant's unlawful and wrongful conduct.

39. There are many questions of law and fact common to the claims of Plaintiff and the other members of the respective Class, and those questions predominate over any questions that may affect individual members of the Class. Common questions for the Class include but are not limited to the following:

- (a) Whether AT&T's conduct described herein is in breach of contract; and
- (b) Whether AT&T's conduct described herein violates Georgia Code § 46-5-171.1.

COUNT I
(Breach Of Contract on behalf of the Class)

40. Plaintiff incorporates by reference the foregoing allegations.

41. Plaintiff and the Class entered into substantially identical agreements with Defendant AT&T whereby Plaintiff and the AT&T agreed to pay a certain sum of money in exchange for AT&T's activation of Plaintiff and the AT&T's cellular telephone account and its promise to provide various communication and related services to Plaintiff and the Class.

42. Defendant AT&T expressly and/or impliedly agreed to provide Plaintiff and the Class with a cellular telephone number free of unauthorized charges for third-party products and services.

43. Defendant AT&T further expressly and/or impliedly agreed to bill Plaintiff and the Class only for products or services the purchase of which they had authorized.

44. Defendant AT&T further expressly and/or impliedly agreed to carry out its obligations in good faith and fair dealing.

45. Defendant AT&T breached its contractual obligations by providing Plaintiff and the Class with cellular telephone accounts that included unauthorized charges for mobile content.

46. Defendant AT&T further breached its contractual obligations, including its contractual obligation of good faith and fair dealing, by thereafter billing Plaintiff and the Class for products or services, the purchase of which they never authorized.

47. The aforementioned breaches of contract have proximately caused the Plaintiff and the Class economic injury and other damages.

COUNT II

(Violation of Georgia Code § 46-5-171.1 on behalf of the class)

48. Plaintiff incorporates by reference the foregoing allegations.

49. Defendant provided Plaintiff and the other class members with local telephone service.

50. Defendant charged Plaintiff and the other class members for third-party content, as alleged elsewhere in this Complaint.

51. Plaintiff and the other class members did not consent or authorize these services. Defendant does not have any evidence that Plaintiff or the other class members gave prior express authorization for those third-party content services.

52. In violation of Georgia Code § 46-5-171.1, the invoice for charges for such services were not clear, conspicuous, separate, and distinct manner so as to ensure that the customer is aware of such charges.

WHEREFORE, Plaintiff Tracie McFerren, on behalf of herself and the Class, prays for the following relief:

- a. Certify this case as a class action on behalf of the Class as defined above and appoint Tracie McFerren Class Representative, and appoint the undersigned counsel as lead counsel;
- b. Declare that the actions of AT&T, as set out above, constitute a breach of contract and violates Georgia state law;
- c. Enter judgment against AT&T for all economic, monetary, actual, consequential, and compensatory damages caused by its conduct, and if its conduct is proved willful, award Plaintiff and the Class exemplary damages;
- d. Award Plaintiff and the Class reasonable costs and attorneys' fees;
- e. Award Plaintiff and the Class pre- and post-judgment interest;
- f. Enter judgment for injunctive, statutory and/or declaratory relief as is necessary to protect the interests of Plaintiff and the Class; and
- g. Award such other and further relief as equity and justice may require.

JURY DEMAND

Plaintiff requests trial by jury of all claims that can be so tried.

As a member of Boone & Stone, Aileen Page represents individuals in product liability, premises liability, medical malpractice, civil racketeering (RICO) and other complex litigation matters. Aileen has litigated cases in Georgia state courts, in all three federal district courts in Georgia, as well as in states across the country, including California, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Texas, Louisiana, Tennessee, Alabama, South Carolina, Kentucky, Missouri and Rhode Island.

Aileen is a Magistrate Court Judge in Fulton County (Atlanta), Georgia.

As a mediator credentialed and registered with the Georgia Office of Dispute Resolution, Aileen is expanding upon more than a decade of trial and litigation work by developing her mediation practice.

Aileen began her career as an Assistant District Attorney in the Coweta Judicial Circuit where, within weeks of graduating law school, she independently tried and won her first felony jury trial. Then based in LaGrange, Georgia, she traveled the multi-county circuit, trying and winning felony jury cases. She was undefeated in Coweta, Troup, Meriwether and Heard counties.

Aileen then joined the DeKalb County District Attorney's Office in metropolitan Atlanta, and continued to try and win serious felony jury cases. As a result of her performance, Aileen was selected to join the Special Prosecutions Unit dedicated exclusively to child deaths, child molestations, and other crimes against children. Assigned to four of eight Superior Court divisions, she was solely responsible for half of all such prosecutions in DeKalb County, and was on call for trial nearly every week. During her tenure with the Dekalb County District Attorney's Office, Aileen was undefeated.

Aileen began her civil practice with the litigation department of a firm representing the world's largest retail corporation in all its tort litigation throughout the state of Georgia. She was lead counsel in a large number of lawsuits involving claims of serious personal injury, malicious prosecution, and employment discrimination. Soon after joining that firm, Aileen was lead counsel in her first civil jury trial, pending in the United States District Court for the Northern District of Georgia, in which she won a directed verdict. She proceeded to develop her civil practice, litigating cases in state and federal courts throughout Georgia.

Aileen then joined a prominent downtown Atlanta firm representing primarily plaintiffs in matters involving catastrophic injury and complex litigation. Within six months, Aileen was promoted to Managing Attorney. In addition to executing administrative responsibilities, Aileen represented Georgia clients in various tort, domestic, and civil RICO matters, as well as clients from across the United States in multidistrict mass-tort pharmaceutical product liability litigation.

In 2005, Aileen was selected from among thousands of trial lawyer applicants to compete in the nationally televised David E. Kelly legal reality drama, "The Law Firm". The attorneys tried real cases against one another before California judges and juries, and were required to prepare and try each case within 48 - 72 hours of receiving the case file. All aspects of preparation and trial were filmed. Competitors were evaluated and eliminated from the competition by prominent Florida attorney Roy Black. Aileen was the only woman in the final six, finished in the top three, and achieved the best win-loss ratio of all the competitors. At the conclusion of the competition, Roy Black stated that there were two attorneys he would want to hire, one of whom was Aileen. In connection with the show, she was personally featured in the Los Angeles Times, USA today, the Fulton County Daily Report, and other publications.

Aileen won the award for Best Orator in Georgia State University College of Law's 1996 Appellate Advocacy Competition. In appreciation of the invaluable training she received during law school by competing in both moot court and mock trial programs, she has served as both a coach and judge in high school and law school competitions.

Aileen volunteers for Dress for Success, an organization which assists women in their efforts to become self-sufficient by entering the workforce.

Born in New York City, Aileen lived in Toronto, Canada, before moving to Atlanta. She earned a Bachelor of Arts Degree in Philosophy and Political Science from the University of Toronto, and obtained her law degree in 1996 from Georgia State University College of Law.

Aileen is a member of the American Association for Justice, the Georgia Trial Lawyers Association, the Georgia Association of Women Lawyers, the Atlanta Bar Association, and the Lawyers Club of Atlanta.
